

Create a database

This window appears after pressing the Create button in the Communications Management screen of the main program on the server

.This window allows us to create a new database

It is possible to take advantage of ready-made forms for databases by pressing the Update Files button to import the templates directly from the website cserp.info. Or choose a blank form where all documents or accounts must be built manually

.After choosing the OK button, the template you chose will be automatically restored

.After completing the process, the database must be rebuilt before entering and typing the password

When requesting a username and password for the database after rebuilding, use the username admin for the database form in Arabic or admin for the form in English and leave the password blank
